

OOTA Celebrates OT month at Lowe's Home Improvement Stores around the State

The community promotion committee of OOTA put together our second annual statewide celebration of OT month by partnering with Lowe's Home Improvement stores to offer free information on home modification, fall prevention and of course, occupational therapy. A new addition added to the agenda this year was a home modification seminar offered at several of the stores. Six stores in Oklahoma City, Edmond, Midwest City, Norman, Owasso, and Tulsa opened their doors to OOTA allowing us to set up informational booths and give out educational information. An educational packet included a page on what occupational therapy is, who we serve and how to contact our state and national associations for more information. AOTA Tip sheets on Fall Prevention and Home Modification were also in the packets. Following the event, a survey was provided to the clinicians and students who participated in the event so that appropriate changes could be made in 2007.
